

Packing, my Journey and Accommodation

There was limited space in my rucksacks, one of which would go into the aircraft hold and the other as carry-on for the flight containing all my essentials. All of this in the 2 photos to the right was packed into a large and a small rucksack, to last me a whole month. There was going to be lots of clothes washing during my time in Cambodia!

The flight was from Heathrow, London to Phnom Penh in Cambodia via Singapore including a short hop from Siem Reap in Cambodia to our final destination. The whole journey was 16 hours long and Cambodia is 6 hours ahead of the UK. We left London at 9am and arrived at our destination at 10am the following day.

I have been fortunate enough to be sponsored by the very generous Seloc Asset Management which has enabled me to raise the funds required to go on this once-in-a-lifetime trip.

This is us, in the picture below, my friends from Linton Village College, at Singapore airport in between flights.

More updates to come about the sights and attractions, wildlife, the projects we were involved in and my 4-day jungle trek.

The picture below shows a “long-house”, the nicest accommodation that we were going to have for sleeping in.

We had no electricity, no running water and 2 of the projects we completed were to build a well and a toilet for the villagers which we could then also use.
